1. Hwa Kwan Mu (a flower crown dance) – Jung Im Lee Korean Dance Academy

Hwa kwan mu, also known as flower crown dance, is a conservative dance performed in the royal courts before the king. The dancers are dressed in brightly colored, elegant costumes and scarves that fully cover their hands and feet. The fluid yet strong motions expressed through the scarves and steps of the dancers are vital movements that have been preserved and learned for over 5000 years within Korean culture and history.

2. Ganesh Vandana – Nupur Academy LA

It is an invocation in praise of the elephant-headed god, Lord Ganesh, who is the Lord of Good Fortune who provides prosperity, fortune and success. He is the Lord of Beginnings and the Remover of Obstacles of both material and spiritual kinds. He is considered to be a patron of the arts and sciences and letters. Devotees believe that if Ganesha is worshipped, he grants success, prosperity and protection against adversity.

3. Tarana – Nupur Academy LA

This is a solo presentation in the technical aspect of Kathak dance where the dancer showcases short compositions, vigorous footwork, and sharp spins. This piece is called 'Tarana' and is set to a 16 beat rhythm cycle. Tarana is a composition in North Indian classical music that uses words or syllables from the Urdu and Persian languages. The Sufi poet Amir Khusro invented this style of music in the 13th century and was later adapted in dance in the courts of the Mughal Emperors.

4. Fan Dance – Jung Im Lee Korean Dance Academy

World's most renowned and original form of Korean dance, the fan dance shows a variety of manifestations using beautiful feathered fans. Through the creative choreography and teamwork of dancers, one can find characteristics of nature (such as mountains, butterflies, and, flowers) harmoniously achieved throughout the dance.

The ShiShi is considered sacred in Japan. The Lion is brave, strong, masterful and has a good heart to those who are good and honest. The Lion brings good luck to you. If he bows to you, he will bring double the luck. Do not touch the lion as that is forbidden. By all means you can bow to him which means you respect his presence, and he in turn will bow to you and give you good luck.

8. Holi – Nupur Academy LA

Holi is a joyous festival celebrating the arrival of spring, the harvest season, love, forgiveness, and new beginnings. The song describes the funny looking faces, covered with colored powder, and the intoxication of happiness. This song has been written hundreds of years ago by the dancer and poet Bindadin Maharaj, passed down verbally through song and music from generation to generation. Enjoy the festival of colors, HOLI.

The Korean Dance Academy provides an opportunity for students to not only learn dance, but also to learn more about the Korean heritage.

Hikari Taiko Drummers

Julie Koga – Artistic Director

Hikari Taiko Drummers have been instructing classes and performing since 1978. Their goal is to promote a strong awareness of the Japanese American culture through the traditional art form of taiko drumming. They utilize their energy in creating their own dynamic expression, along with the powerful heartbeat of taiko. They are interested in reaching out to the communities for wellness programs, workshops and cultural education to children. They hope their drumming touches your heart as it does theirs. This is group performance, so the hearts of all the performers must be united to create such a sound.
